

— Program Options — University of Burgundy Dijon, France

For French majors and minors with at least one year of college level French, Linfield recommends the University of Burgundy in Dijon, France Program. Most of the courses are taught in French. The university is 10 minutes away from the city center and public transportation is easy to navigate.

UB served approximately 29,000, 2,228 of which were international students. The origins of the University of Burgundy began with the founding of the Dijon faculty of law in 1722. Dijon itself is charming and certainly offers a good experience of provincial life as well as a condensé of French history, from the middle ages on. The countryside is beautiful and Dijon is close to Paris and Lyon. Burgundy is one of France's main wine producing areas. Dijon, France is where history and modernity combine with its cobblestone streets and timeless wine. A trip to Paris is just 90 minutes away by train.

The Curriculum

The University of Burgundy offers a multidisciplinary education, with courses taught in French at various levels. Please refer to the following website, specifically focusing on exchange students: <http://en.u-bourgogne.fr/admission/exchange-students.html>. For a complete listing of course offerings and detailed information about the university, please refer to: <http://www.u-bourgogne.fr/>. Available curriculum includes International Trade and Export, as well as Linguistics and British/American History from the English department.

Wine Studies Majors/Minors

UG was also selected for their outstanding wine studies program with courses taught in English. However, students must have had at least one year of college-level French in order to better appreciate the local culture.

Room and Board

Students in the French language program are required to live with a host family arranged by the University. Wine Studies students may elect to live with a host family or in on-campus housing. Students can use the health center on-campus for no charge.

Selection Criteria

Both programs are open to students in good academic and social standing who have completed at least one semester at Linfield with a 2.75 cumulative minimum GPA. Preference is given to students with a 3.0 average in their French language courses. Students cannot participate in both a semester abroad and January Term off-campus course in the same academic year without special permission from the International Programs Office. On the basis of an application, supporting documents, and a personal interview, a selection committee judges each applicant to determine motivation, readiness and academic preparation for this study abroad experience. A series of obligatory orientation meetings for all participants (usually one weekend and several other meetings) is held in the spring semester prior to departure. All participants must take or audit the appropriate level of French in the semester directly preceding study abroad. Linfield will then formally nominate successful students to the center they have selected. Final decision rests with the administration of each study center.

Calendar

Students may participate in either the fall or spring term or for a full academic year. Specific dates are provided in the brochures or the websites of the center.

Costs

The cost of studying in France is similar to spending an equivalent period of time on the McMinnville campus. Linfield College pays the cost of round-trip airfare from the Portland International Airport to an international destination for the student's first study abroad experience. Students pay regular tuition, technology fee and a program fee. Out-of-pocket expenses, passport and visa fees, and local or regional travel are the responsibility of the students. Linfield students may use their financial aid while abroad.

Credits

Students must enroll in French courses and all semester abroad students are required to take IDST 031 Intercultural Communication: Departure and Reentry (S/U, 1 credit). It is also recommended that students take TCCA 230 Intercultural Communication: Global Perspectives and courses in European politics and history in preparation for the semester/year in France.

— Program Options — IAU College Aix-en-Provence, France

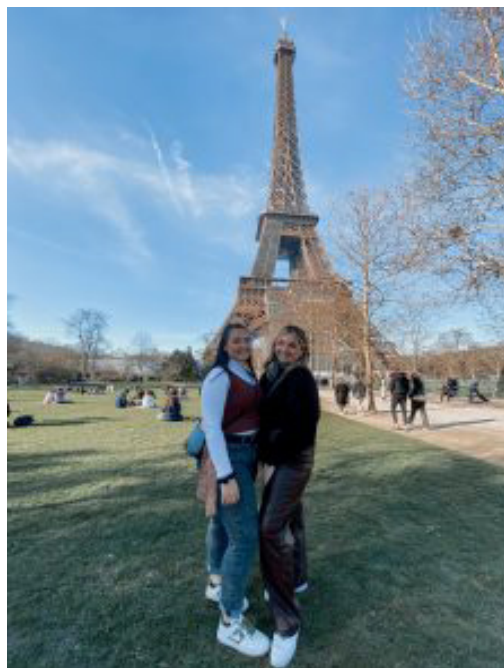

For students with at least one year of college level French, there is the opportunity to enroll in the IAU College study abroad program located in Aix-en-Provence.

Founded in 1957, IAU College is one of the oldest and largest study abroad programs in Europe with more than 20,000 students. Aix is located 25 minutes north of Marseille.

Prior to the week of orientation for both fall and spring semesters, an early start program is available in intensive French, to acclimate students to the culture and language.

The Curriculum

The IAU College offers a multidisciplinary education, with courses taught in French at various levels. Honors Program

Students with the highest proficiency in French language and two years of college level French have the opportunity to enroll in the IAU College French Honors Program, also located in Aix. This program is an advanced level track which enables students to have a comprehensive language and cultural immersion experience beyond their regular curriculum.

As a program within the School of Humanities and Social Sciences, students will have the opportunity to more fully immerse themselves in the French language experience. Courses are taught exclusively in French. However, since IAU offers a broad array of attractive courses, students are allowed to enroll in one course conducted in English. Other features include:

- Extensive Orientation, spread out over 2 weeks.
- Students are housed with host families.
- Internships are possible at a local business, school or organization.
- Excursions and other activities are included.
